HEAD COACH JANICE KRUGER

484 Career Victories

Janice Kruger is in her eighth season at the University of Maryland where she has elevated the program to new heights. The two-time National Coach of the Year while at University of Nebraska at Omaha, Kruger has an impressive 131-95 record with the Terrapins. Since her arrival in 1988, she has transformed the Terrapin program into a regional powerhouse and into a team always in the hunt for an Atlantic Coast Conference title.

In her first season, Maryland finished tied for third in the Atlantic Coast Conference and the squad set the groundwork for Kruger's illustrious future. Her hard work and patience paid off quickly as she saw the Terrapins compile a 23-15 tally in 1989, the best in five years.

Kruger's progression toward excellence continued and, by her third season at College Park, Kruger was recognized by her peers as the 1990 ACC Coach of the Year. She lead her squad to an ACC Championship and to Maryland's first NCAA Tournament appearance.

In 1991, Maryland finished second in the ACC and a year later the Terrapins won a record 24 games and tied for fifth place in the National Invitational Volleyball Championship. The 1993 Terrapins 17th ranked Florida State in three games and beat Georgia Tech in the ACC Tournament for a third place finish. Last season the Terrapins finished 18-11 with an 8-6 mark in conference action.

As only the second head coach in the history of the Maryland program, Kruger's impact at College Park has been an extremely positive one. In her first five years, her squads finished no lower than third place in the ever competitive Atlantic Coast Conference, while gaining some impressive victories throughout.

KRUGER'S AWARDS & HONORS

Two-Time NCAA Division II Coach of The Year
ACC Coach of the Year 1990
ACC Champions 1990

1990 ACC COACH OF THE YEAR

Her recruiting efforts have not gone unnoticed as she has signed players from as far away as Hawaii, California and Oregon, while also keeping in-state players at home. Kruger has also seen her players earn national attention. Most recently, three-time All-ACC performer Nicole Lantagne received the AVCA National Player of the Week award last season and was also a GTE Academic All-District select. Lantagne has her name etched in the Maryland and ACC record books for assists in a career (4,277).

Prior to her arrival at Maryland, the popular Kruger was the head coach at the University of Nebraska-Omaha and took her teams to four Final Fours in her nine years. Twice named the Division II National Coach of the Year while at UNO, Kruger accumulated over 350 wins in her nine-year coaching stint. She won the North Central Conference Championship for five consecutive years and, in 1983, recorded an unbelievable 49 wins on the squad's way to their first Final Four under Kruger.

The talented and friendly Kruger, along with her staff, hold a summer volleyball camp which draws hundreds of local youngsters to College Park each year.

A native of Randolph, Nebraska, Kruger is a 1977 graduate of the University of Nebraska where she was a four-year letterwinner and captain. She earned her Master's Degree in Athletic Administration in 1978.

Terps' Chief Recruiter

ASSISTANT COACH PAUL SCHEEL

Paul Scheel begins his second season as an assistant coach at the University of Maryland. Scheel serves as the chief recruiter and is involved with every aspect of the Terrapin's program.

Scheel comes to College Park from the University of Minnesota where he was an assistant coach for the Golden Gophers. In 1993, Scheel helped the squad advance to the NCAA Sweet 16 and a third place finish in the Big Ten. His responsibilities included planning practice, scouting opponents, recruiting and scheduling. Scheel left Minnesota in the spring of 1994 after successfully recruiting and signing the top two recruits in the state.

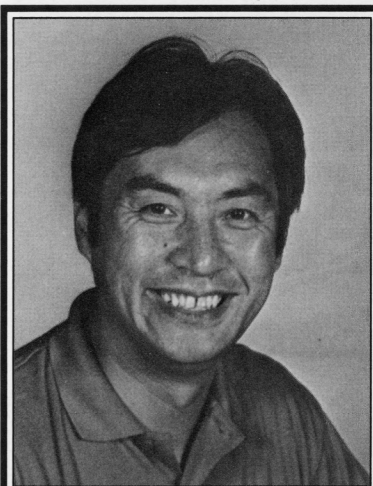

Prior to his stint at Minnesota, Scheel spent a year at Indiana State University serving as assistant coach. With the Sycamores, Scheel revamped the recruiting activities and directed all fundraising projects.

He was also involved with team travel and practice planning.

As a player, Scheel competed three years at St. Cloud State earning all-conference each season. He led his squad to a 60-12 record throughout his three seasons and to a second place finish in the NIVC in 1989. As a senior, he played at Eastern Montana College leading his squad to its best NCAA Division I record in school history (20-8). He was given all-tournament recognition at the Eastern Montana College Invitational and the State University of New York-New Paltz Tournament. Scheel competed with the Christian Sports Outreach International program and traveled to Jamaica after graduation in December, 1991.

A head coach for the Mosquito Coast Volleyball Club and the Chaska Junior Volleyball Club, both in Minneapolis, Minn., Scheel brings a wealth of volleyball experience to College Park.

Scheel, originally from Minneapolis, Minnesota, graduated Cum Laude from St. Cloud University in 1991 with a degree in Biology.

National Team Player

ASSISTANT COACH FELIX HOU

Felix Hou is a newcomer to Maryland volleyball but is no stranger to the sport. Hou played seven years for the Chinese National Team, missing the 1980 Olympic Games because of his country's boycott.

Hou comes to College Park after spending the last two years as an assistant coach for the Yohan Women's Volleyball professional team in Hong Kong. Prior to that, he coached in Iceland for both the national team and the women's and men's teams at Iceland University.

Hou served his native country for several years before moving to Iceland. He coached the National Women's Youth Team and the Beijing Women's Team. His teams earned numerous awards including first place finishes in four international tournaments.

Besides his national team experience, Hou participated on Beijing's club team for three years. He has been honored with individual awards including three "Best Player" awards and two "Best Spiker" awards on various teams. As a coach, Hou has delivered seven players to the China National Team and six to the Iceland National Team.

As an assistant coach, Hou will be a valuable asset to the team's on court training. Hou has written several articles on volleyball training and earned a bachelor's degree in coaching management from Shanghai Physical Education Institute.

1995 VOLLEYBALL OUTLOOK

Hopes are high for the 1995 University of Maryland volleyball team. After losing only one starter from the 18-13 1994 squad, head coach Janice Kruger is cautiously anxious for this season, realizing there is a lot to do. "Our 1995 Maryland squad is a very hard-working group. They are eager to learn and improve. They realize that every minute in the gym is precious because of the challenges in our tough ACC matches and our strong non-conference schedule."

Senior Sherry Smith will be a key to leadership for the Terrapins. Last year's co-captain, the middle hitter was a second team All-ACC pick, leading the team in blocking and smashing the second-best hitting percentage. "Sherry leads by example and is a very consistent player. She is solid on defense and possesses excellent ball control. We will need her to be a leader both on and off the court."

Also filling the middle hitter position will be two returnees and a freshman. Shannon Saltzman and Laura Cressa were valuable in backup roles last year and should be keys to the middle, while Cressa may contribute on the outside as well. Freshman Jaime Summers is a strong offensive threat who led her Conneaut Lake High School (Pa.) team to four conference championships. The Terrapins will also have the skills of Minnesota transfer Conya Jabari-Kitwala in practice, but will have to wait until 1996 for her to suit up in Maryland colors.

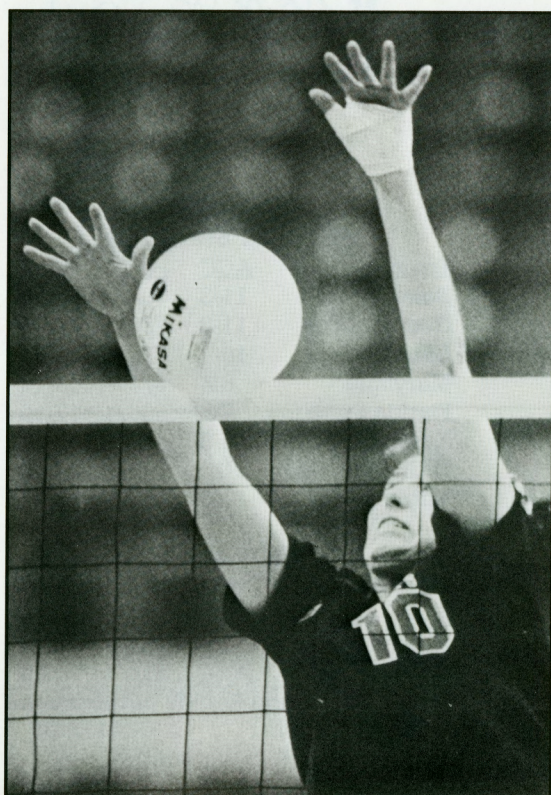

On the outside, Maryland returns five seasoned veterans. Seniors Moneach Surber, Kim Mosley and Carrie Jaeck will be looking to end their careers with a bang. Surber was last year's Most Improved Player, finishing third in kills and fourth in hitting. Mosley saw time on the right side in 1994 and totaled the second most assists and third most service aces. Mosley is a high-spirited player who brings a lot of emotion and intensity to the court. Jaeck, a senior transfer from Florida, has a year as a Terp under her belt and will vie for increased playing time.

Two juniors also return to the outside hitter spot. Daune Koester smashed a school-record 32 kills in a match against NCAA Tournament participant Georgia Tech. She was second on the team in kills and led the team in serving with 37 aces. "Daune brings a new maturity into the 1995 season. She is dedicated to the team, disciplined in her training and a fierce competitor."

Candace Seitz also was a key to the Terp's 1994 season, playing in all 31 matches and earning all-tournament honors at the LSU Classic. She returns with last season's second-best digging numbers.

Setting looks to be a great strength for this year's squad. Sophomore Eden Kroeger returns to once again rewrite the Maryland record books. She broke every assist record as a freshman, including the season record with 1405. The four-time ACC Rookie of the Week was named to the ACC All-Rookie team and finished eighth in the nation in assists. But Weber State transfer Shantelle Johnson will also be a contributor. Johnson finished third in the Big Sky as a freshman, but missed much of last year after having knee surgery.

With the combination of returning experience and additional talents, the season looks hopeful for the Terrapins. In order to succeed, Maryland will have to work as a team to face the competitive Atlantic Coast Conference. The Terrapins will also be competing in tournaments at George Washington, Michigan State and at home against some tough non-conference foes. By taking it one match at a time, the University of Maryland Volleyball team can turn its hopes into realities.

ACADEMIC SUPPORT

There is an insistence in the Maryland athletic program that student-athletes get a degree in a career field that will enhance their life after College Park. The insistence is underlined by Coach Janice Kruger and her staff, by the athletic administration and by the Academic Support Unit of the Department of Athletics. Striving for excellence is not just something that the University of Maryland student-athletes do on the field or court.

Toward that goal of a successful academic experience for each student-athlete, the athletic department created the Academic Support Unit. Each ASU staff member is responsible for working with specific sports, counseling each student-athlete individually.

The department operates an ever-expanding computer room and an extensive library of most of the books an athlete will need through her academic career.

ASU organizes over 100 tutors from all academic disciplines. Student-athletes can receive specialized one-on-one training in any class by a qualified tutor.

John Bowman is Associate Director of Student Services for Academic Support and is the ASU staff member in charge of volleyball. He returns to Academic Support after spending the past three years in the Office of Undergraduate Admissions. He had previously been Senior Advisor in Academic Support from 1987 through 1991 and an Athletic Advisor in 1986 in the Department of Undergraduate Studies. He was also a coordinator in the campus' Intensive Education Development Program (1979-1986).

Towards a student-athlete's development, ASU provides the following:

- Personal academic assessment
- Academic advising and counseling
- Supervised study
- Learning and study skills programs
- Computer training and usage
- Group and individual tutoring
- Career mentoring
- Summer internships

The physical preparation of a student-athlete to compete in volleyball has developed into a critical component of the overall program. Emphasis is put on physical conditioning not only to enhance performance, but also prevent injury.

Strength coach Dwight Galt employs a program that is geared towards maximizing athletic development. His staff makes every attempt to accommodate the different training needs of each athlete.

University of Maryland student-athletes are fortunate to train in one of the premier weight training facilities in the country. The Maryland Weight Room Complex features 7,200 square feet of space that holds training equipment to meet the needs of the athletes. The facility includes an 11-ton free weight system with Olympic platform, as well as state-of-the-art electrolyzed and plate-loaded equipment.

THE UNIVERSITY AT COLLEGE PARK

These are great days at the University of Maryland at College Park. The university, through an act of the state legislature, has been designated officially as the state's flagship campus with a mandate to become one of the nation's leading public universities. The effect of the mandate is for individuals from all corners of the university to aspire toward excellence, to think great thoughts and to become immersed in an educational enterprise of the highest caliber. There is an unmistakable momentum for change and a sense of heightened expectation at College Park-Maryland is choosing quality.

The faculty have enthusiastically endorsed a new general education program that began in the fall of 1990. It is a blueprint for comprehensive changes in the undergraduate experience at Maryland. The campus is reducing its undergraduate enrollment, improving the ratio between faculty and students, raising admissions standards, revamping the University Honors Program, strengthening the advising system, supporting expanded undergraduate research, and encouraging innovations in teaching.

A new language house has opened where student residents have direct satellite access to foreign language television broadcasts from the USSR, Latin America, Italy and Japan, and where, in a total immersion setting, they have pledged to speak their chosen language at all times. A new honors house, a stimulating living and learning center for undergraduates taking part in the University Honors Program, opened in 1992. An international house, a living-learning environment that will meet the growing needs of the diverse international population on campus, was also added.

HISTORY

Just after the American Revolution, the state of Maryland established its first two colleges at Chestertown and Annapolis. By the 1850's, at least thirty little colleges had sprung up over the state, many with state support, but many of them disappearing within a few years. Then, in 1859 a different kind of institution appeared at College Park - the Maryland Agricultural College, the third such college in the world, created mainly for farmers' sons. The college was established by Charles Benedict Calvert, a wealthy planter from nearby Riversdale - now Riverdale - and later a congressman. Calvert built a handsome Gothic dormitory - classroom structure located in a grove of trees near the present Morrill Hall, and he divided the land down the Baltimore-Washington Turnpike into small plots where each of the 50-or-so students experimented with a different agricultural crop. After the Civil War the institution became a land-grant college, with small appropriations from Washington. The little college began to grow about 1900 when agricultural experiments began to bring prosperity to Maryland, and when the college expanded its offerings into engineering, business and liberal arts.

In 1912 the old Gothic building burned, and the state provided modern structures. Women were admitted to the campus, and graduate work began. In 1920 the college combined with the long established professional schools of Baltimore and changed its name to the University of Maryland.

Growth accelerated after 1935 when the politically astute football coach, H.C. 'Curley' Byrd became president, added scores of new programs, and won national football championships. In the 1950's and 1960's, President Wilson H. Elkins maintained the rapid growth, the College Park became one of the largest campuses in the nation. President Elkins, a Rhodes Scholar, transformed the institution's public image from that of a party school to one of academic integrity.

In the 1970's and 1980's the university's graduate and research programs flourished. In 1988, the General Assembly of Maryland combined six state colleges with the five campuses of the University of Maryland, and specifically charged College Park with the role of leadership. The University of Maryland at College Park recognizes its special responsibility as the flagship and the largest of the eleven institutions within the statewide university system to lead the University of Maryland's quest for excellence. To this end, College Park offers broad coverage in the traditional arts and sciences as well as a wide range of professional and pre-professional programs. The institution is organized into fourteen colleges and schools encompassing over 100 departments and campus-wide programs of study. A growing number of these departments and programs rank among the best in the nation. Today the University of Maryland at College Park stands, by any measure, as one of the leading institutions of higher education in the world.

LOCALE

The state of Maryland is unrivaled in its scenic beauty, its rich heritage, and its wealth of educational, recreational, and cultural opportunities. From the mountain passes of Garrett County in the west, to the sand dunes of Assateague Island on the Eastern Shore, and the cosmopolitan excitement of Baltimore and Washington, D.C., there is unparalleled variety of experiences and resources available to students at the university.

Nine miles from the nation's capital, the University of Maryland at College Park is within easy reach of the country's best research facilities. The Library of Congress, the National Archives, the Smithsonian Institution and the National Libraries of Agriculture and Medicine are among the many unique resources in the area.

In addition to traditional scholarly resources, the campus is surrounded by the dynamic cultural opportunities that only a major metropolitan area can provide. The Kennedy Center alone houses the National Symphony Orchestra, five performance stages, an opera company, and the American Film Institute. In Baltimore, one of the great ports of the world, a recent and remarkable renaissance has added the glistening touch of office towers and hotels to the quaint shops and ethnic restaurants of its many colorful neighborhoods. Harborplace and the National Aquarium anchor the Inner Harbor, which has become a cultural magnet for thousands of tourists each year.

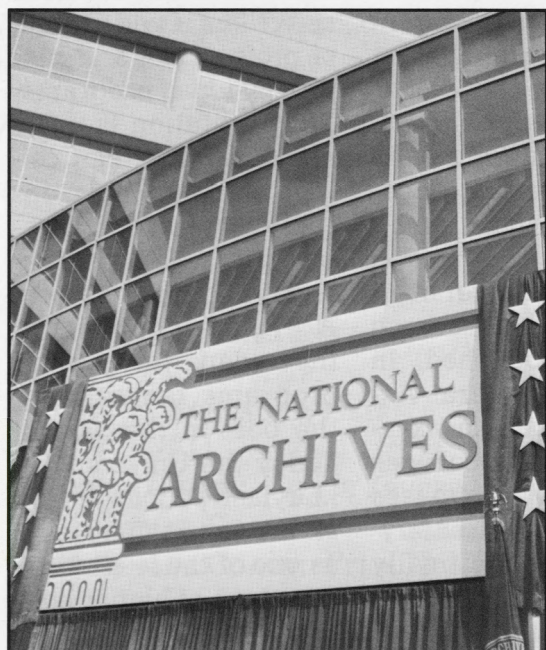

The Chesapeake Bay accounts for nearly 20 percent of Maryland's acreage, and is a focal point for the serious study of estuarine ecology as well as a recreational treasure. It is the source of Maryland's famed crabs and other seafood specialties, and a refuge for many species of water fowl.

Not far from any point in the state is evidence of the burgeoning development which has made Maryland a model for economic growth and fiscal health. High tech, engineering, and service industries thrive in proximity to the campus, offering a wide spectrum of opportunities for work study or internships for students and career choices for graduates.

The University of Maryland at College Park, as the flagship campus of the state higher education system, is a vital part of Maryland's current prosperity and its vision for the future. For students here, the state offers a bounteous extension to the campus' own wealth of opportunity.

Our location adds to the excitement on campus, too. Few regions in the nation have the intellectual, cultural and physical resources to compare with those in the Baltimore-Washington, DC. corridor. College Park's location astride that corridor means that Maryland undergraduates may tap these resources to their fullest - through internships, research projects, cooperative work-study and other programs offering hands-on experience.

We invite you to take a closer look at the University of Maryland, its extensive academic programs, faculty, research facilities, student activities and support services and the resources and opportunities it offers. See for yourself the number of different ways in which Maryland is choosing quality. There has never been a better time to choose Maryland.
